

Some Counties May Not Hold an Election

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — When the state Central Democratic Committee ruled prior to the first primary that only those voting primary candidates in the previous election could vote the party ticket this year, compliance was left to the county committees.

That election ended with no reported incidents of bloc voter challenges and all but one constitutional race was decided.

The trailing candidate for that post—Secretary of state—has said he wants to withdraw from the race.

Now there is a question whether a runoff is required and again it looks like the problem will be solved by the county committees.

This is the quandary that the state Central committee, candidates Kelly Bryant of Hope and Milton J. Willis of Van Buren, and residents of some 41 counties who do not have locally contested races are in.

The state committee said after Willis announced last Saturday state law required that if neither candidate gets a majority in a preferential race, the names of the two top men "shall" be placed on a ballot.

The committee certified the names of Bryant and Willis on ballots for counties and it was assumed in many quarters this meant there would have to be a runoff.

Willis said he was withdrawing, because he lacked funds to run a strong second second campaign and because the expense the state would save if the runoff need not be held.

But when the state committee said Monday that the names of the two men "shall" be on the ballot, Willis issued a statement saying he wanted to hold the secretary of state post more than any other office.

He said he had been getting contributions and callers had urged him to continue to campaign.

The committee indicated that regardless whether Willis campaigned, if he got a majority of votes, he would be the new secretary of state.

This weekend both Leon Catlett, secretary of the state committee, and Tom Harper of Fort Smith, chairman, took the position that whether the election is held would be up to the county committees.

Catlett said the committee completed its obligation when it certified the names of the two top men in the race, according to its interpretation of the law.

It would then be incumbent on the county committees to hold the election. If they don't hold one, there is not anything the state committee can do about it," he added.

Harper said, "my position is that county committees are committed to put the names of the two highest men on the ballot. Whether they hold an election is up to them."

During the week Willis said he was returning the contributions he had received and was asking his supporters to vote for Bryant.

Saturday night Bryant issued a statement saying he had nothing to do with the confusion.

Thus far only two counties have indicated they may not hold an election—Lincoln and Poinsett.

There are five district contests to be decided Tuesday, four for senator and one for district prosecutor.

Joe Woodward is opposing John M. Graves in the 11th district race for prosecuting attorney. They were the highest of four candidates in the first primary.

In the senatorial races:

Joe L. Templeton opposed Joe B. Hurley in the 13th district.

Nathan G. Coulter opposes incumbent Sen. Roy L. Riales Sr. in the 6th, and Dub Wells opposes James W. Raney in the 11th.

Boxcar Lands Safely

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — An Air Force C-123 "flying boxcar" plane safely made an emergency landing at Pine Bluff municipal airport Sunday after an engine oil leak was discovered at 10,500 feet. The craft, heavily loaded with jet engines, was piloted by Captains Norman G. Smith and Marvin Fowler of George AFB, Calif. Also aboard was S-Sgt. I.H. Wecker, George AFB, flight engineer. The pilots said the emergency landing was made to avoid danger of fire.

Forty Hour Week Talks by Union

CHICAGO (AP)—The traditional 40-hour work week and James R. Hoffa, Teamsters Union president, appear likely to be high on the agenda at today's opening session of the AFL-CIO Executive Council's summer meeting.

A number of officials in the big labor federation believe the time has come to cut both down in size.

Labor leaders, including the AFL-CIO president, George Meany, usually have seen shortening the work week as the answer to growing unemployment.

The 26 union vice presidents making up the council are expected to take some action regarding the Teamsters Union.

The union, with 1,500,000 members, was expelled from the AFL-CIO in 1957 amidst charges of corruption. The AFL-CIO has more than 14 million members.

The Teamsters have come under renewed fire from AFL-CIO officials since last week's trial of 21 leaders of the affiliated Communications Workers of America.

All 21 were convicted in a union trial of having conspired to deliver 18,000 CWA members into the hands of Hoffa's union. Nineteen CWA leaders were expelled from the union and two were suspended for three years.

Joseph A. Beirne, CWA president, previously had asked the Executive Council to set up an organization to try and get some Teamsters members back in the AFL-CIO fold.

Any drive for a shorter work week apparently would get no help from the Kennedy administration. President Kennedy has said repeatedly that he would propose no legislation to change the standard 40-hour week. Two of his top aides, Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg and Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges, both have warned labor not to seek a shorter work week through legislation.

Employers also have shown they prefer to pay overtime to present workers rather than pay costly fringe benefits to new workers.

JFK May Tell Plans in Talk to Nation

By FRANK CORMMER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy may offer an advance peek at his plans for a 1963 tax cut when he speaks to the nation tonight on taxes and the lagging economy.

Most observers in and out of government were convinced he would reject suggestions that a quick tax cut offers the best chance of averting any early recession.

Kennedy was likely to call attention in his 7 p. m. EDT television-radio address to his stalled requests for stand-by authority to cut taxes and launch a public works program in the event of a recession. If Congress should approve these proposals, the door would be kept open for a possible tax cut later this year.

Strong recommendations for quick tax reductions have come from such diverse quarters as the AFL-CIO and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Those who were convinced that Kennedy would turn down the appeals said that for one thing, there is formidable congressional opposition to the idea of considering a deficit-expanding tax cut in the waning weeks of an election year session.

Also, major economic indicators surveyed by Kennedy and key advisors at a White House conference Friday showed a moderate business pickup in July.

Perhaps equally important, the Treasury is fearful that a 1962 tax cut would undermine administration efforts to achieve a major reform of tax laws next year.

It was learned that work on the 1962 reform bill was far enough advanced to permit disclosure of certain key details. Several officials said it seemed logical that Kennedy would seize this opportunity.

To date, Kennedy merely has said he will seek a top-to-bottom cut in individual and corporate tax rates, effective next Jan. 1. He also has promised the resulting revenue loss would be only partly offset by elimination of certain special tax benefits now available to limited numbers of taxpayers.

While Kennedy could point tonight to record July prosperity, in terms of production and income, he has made no secret of his dissatisfaction with recent economic growth.

It seemed likely that Kennedy would urge favorable action on a bill to encourage business investment in more modern equipment, by offering them tax credits. The Treasury has put great stock in this measure, coupled with the recent reform of tax depreciation guide lines, as a means of promoting growth.

Russia Sends 2 in Orbit, Scores a Big Gain

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Soviet astronauts wheeled around the earth in tandem today, one entering his third day in space and the other his second in a historic feat putting the Russians ahead in the race to the moon.

Already they had passed the point where they would have been in position to land and that meant almost certainly they would go on through at least another night and morning.

Aboard Vostok III, Maj. Andrian Nikolayev, 32, had made 35 circuits of the earth by 4 p. m. Moscow time, since Saturday morning. He thus also had surpassed the 17-orbit flight of Maj. Gherman S. Titov a year ago.

The two exchanged radio greetings Sunday to see each other's ships. Trackers in Japan had put the distance between them as about 75 miles Sunday. But the Soviet Research Center in Cleveland, Ohio, said they later had moved 385 miles apart.

At noon, every correspondent in Moscow braced for news that the pilots had begun their descent to Soviet soil. But rumors of a landing proved wrong. One Soviet source declared: "They are not coming down today."

Premier Khrushchev messaged them: "I again congratulate you and embrace you. I wish you successful fulfillment of the program of the flight, and happy landing."

They were shown again on television today. Lying back in their chairs, occasionally rising to a half sitting position to work better with a log book or to keep it from shielding their faces from the television viewer in the cabin of the ship. Gestures and movements were relatively limited.

Tass reported that millions of televisioners saw Popovich rise from his seat, look through the porthole, smile and drink something, then take his seat again.

Both had traveled far enough to reach the moon and back but both reported they felt fine. Instruments were functioning perfectly, and cabin temperature and other conditions normal, Tass reported.

A midday bulletin said: "The necessary medical and hygienic conditions in the cabins of the cosmonauts are fully maintained."

The cosmonauts' morning hours were devoted to breakfast, settling-up exercises, and then scientific observations, physiological and vestibular (ear) tests and psychological tests, it said.

Nikolayev had far surpassed the 17-orbit record set by Soviet Maj. Gherman Titov a year earlier in Vostok II.

The double flight marked a fantastic feat of Soviet rocketry that the United States does not hope to match until at least next year. The ability to send up a second space ship 24 hours after the first one had gone up, and bring it into orbit in the vicinity of the first ship marked an important advance toward the day when satellites can join in space for construction of a space platform from which a moon shot can be made.

British scientists also said the Soviet accomplishment could lead to the early development of military satellites that would home on such spy-in-the-sky satellites as the U.S. Midas and Samos and destroy them.

Soviet announcements so far gave no indication when the two spaceships would be brought to earth.

An informed Soviet source said he believed the two cosmonauts would not come down today.

Sir Bernard Lovell, director of Britain's Jodrell Bank radio telescope, said in London Sunday he had been advised by Moscow sources that the flights would continue "a few days."

Cosmonaut Frequencies

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet cosmonauts are using the following radio megacycle frequencies: 8,900, 20,00 and 143,625.

Honesty is the best policy, but it's surprising how many people think they can't afford the best.

13 Deaths in Arkansas by Violence

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A teen-aged Lake City Negro drowned Sunday in the St. Francis River at Lake City, bringing to 13 the number of persons dying violently in Arkansas during the week ended last midnight.
Attempts to revive 15-year-old Jerry Dewayne Woodard by two passersby failed after the Lake City youth ran into difficulty while swimming in the river.
In other weekend accidents, James Hardin of Newport was fatally injured in a car-bus collision just north of the Newport City limits. Officers said Hardin, a 57-year-old Negro, tried to make a left turn and crossed into the path of the Continental Trailways bus.
Fourteen-year-old Ennis Cox of Gentry died in a Siloam Springs hospital Sunday after being run over Saturday night by a tractor on a county road 2.5 miles south of Gentry. State Police said the youngster apparently tried to board the moving vehicle and slipped under the tractor driven by Harold Striker, 34, of Gentry.
Billy Joe Arnold, 19, of Helena, died Sunday after being found injured, lying in the middle of State Highway 20 about four miles south of Helena.
State Police said Arnold, who died of internal injuries, was a hit and run victim.
During the week, 10 persons died in traffic accidents, two drowned and one was stabbed to death.

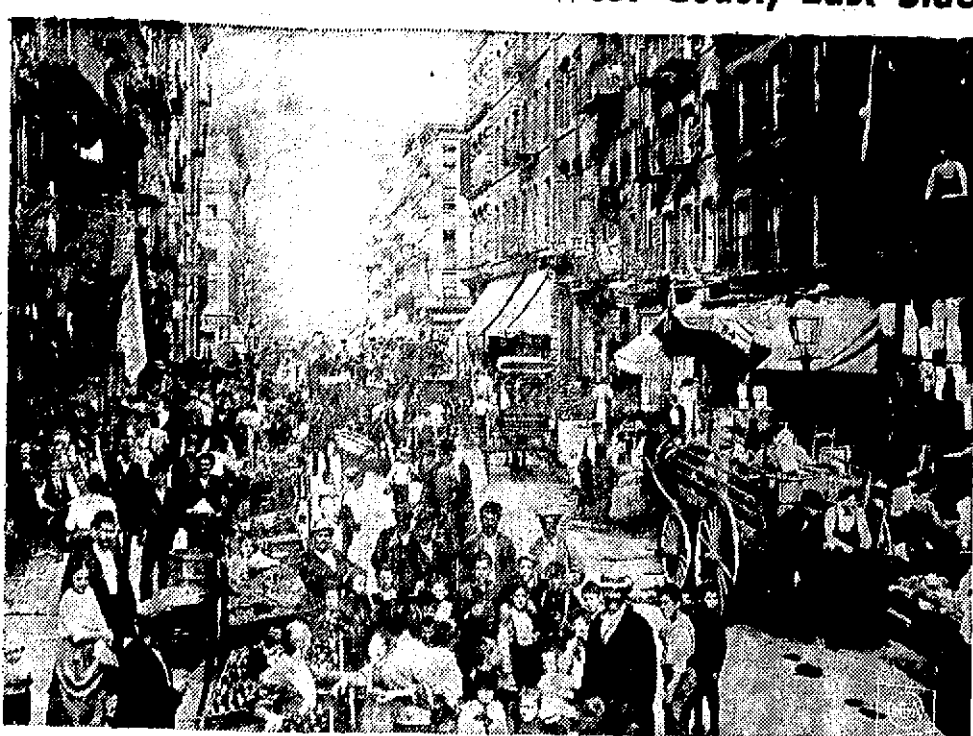

Bribery Deal Enters the Satellite Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators filibustering against the administration's communications satellite bill demanded today an immediate investigation of what one of them called a reported bribery attempt. They asked that all voting be held up meantime.
Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate Democratic leader, told Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., and others who cited a statement by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., last Friday that any senator who had information on such matters could get an investigation.
But Mansfield said he would oppose any effort to delay a vote scheduled for Tuesday afternoon on a cloture motion to limit debate and end the filibuster against the satellite bill.
Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex., told the Senate it was its duty to lay aside the bill "until this charge of bribery has been investigated."

Kefauver and Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., brought up the matter of a series of questions Long had directed last Friday at Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, another opponent of the satellite bill.
Long prefaced his remarks at that time with the observation that "I should like to ask the senator from Utah whether the telephone company has offered him the kind of proposal that it has offered me?"

Moss replied that he had had no communications with the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.
Long then asked Moss if he had had "proposals made to him that he could own a telephone building in his state and that the telephone company would make the loan and endorse the loan to build a big building in a big city in his state just on the assurance that the senator would give sympathetic consideration to the company's problem."

Long asked if there also was mentioned the probability that he — the senator — would wind up eventually worth $5 million or $25 million.
Moss replied no proposition of this sort or anything akin to it had been made to him.

Long declined after he had directed his series of questions to Moss to amplify his statements to reporters who questioned him off the Senate floor.

But after today's developments, Long told a reporter when reached by telephone that he did not want to charge the company bribe.

"I was not offered a bribe by the company," Long said. "I do not want to charge the company with that."

Asked whether he had had communications of any kind with AT&T representatives, Long indicated that he had. But he said he did not want to discuss them at this time.

Asked if he knew whether any other member of Congress had been offered a bribe, Long replied that he knew of none.

On the basis of the Long-Moss exchange, Kefauver called for an inquiry into reports that "scandalous" offers had been made to senators to win their support for the bill.

Kefauver said the matter ought Long's statements as indicating that offers had been made by which senators could become owners of telephone buildings.

Kefauver said the matter ought to be investigated before the Senate voted on cloture.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen told reporters he believed the Senate would vote to shut off the filibuster against the satellite bill, but Mansfield predicted only that its outcome would be close. Under Senate rules, debate can be limited only if two-thirds of those voting favor a limitation.

Fire Destroys Pine Bluff Plant

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) —The Pine Bluff plant of the Standard Ice Co. of Arkansas was destroyed by fire.

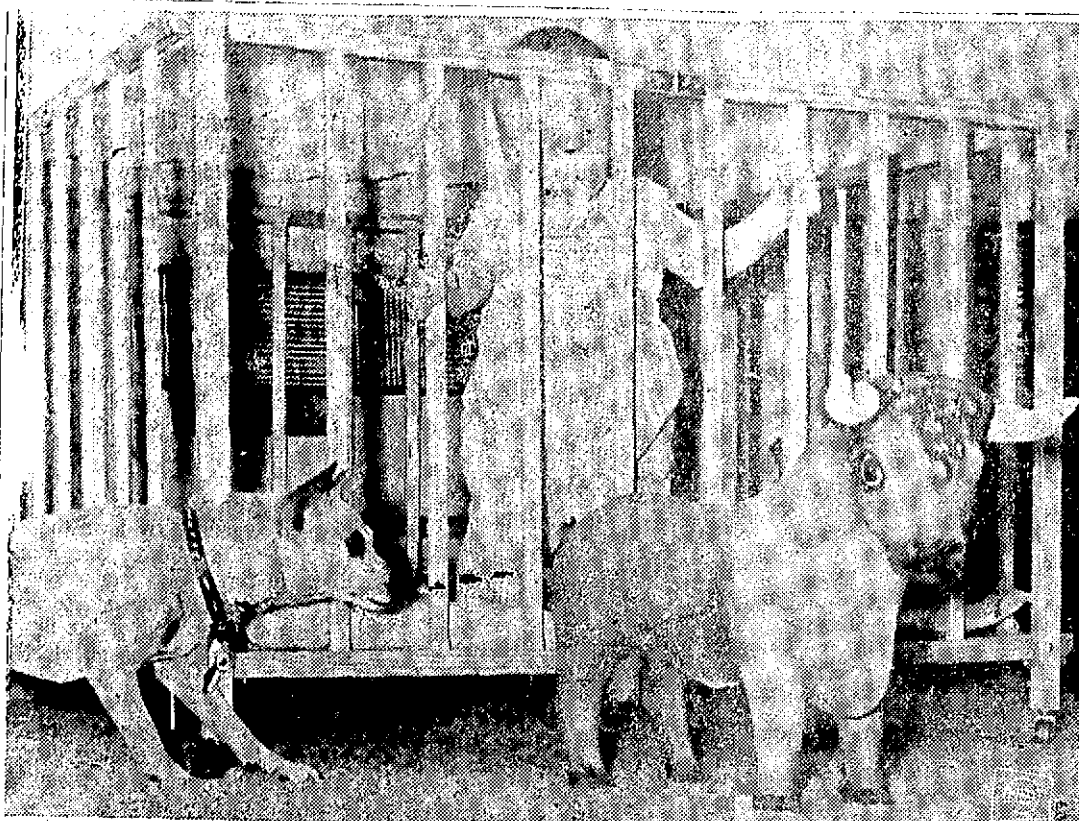

Company officials estimated the loss to exceed $100,000.
Firemen battled the blaze for more than five hours before bringing it under control. There were no injuries. Fire Chief Joe Edwards said he did not know how the fire started.

The blaze was first seen at 2 a.m. today by a city patrolman cruising by the plant.
Edwards said despite the terrific heat, which drove firemen back again and again, between 1,000 and 1,500 blocks of ice were salvaged.

W. J. Ayers of Memphis, owner of the plant, said the damage to the ice was lessened by the heavy insulation between walls of storage compartments.

Three Pine Bluff companies were called to fight the blaze.

Wrong Ball Unknowingly Ike Played

SUNNYDALE, England (AP) —Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower executed some beautiful golf shots here today—but pulled a boner on the 18th hole by mistakenly playing his partner's ball.

His partner was Sir James Gault, an old friend and former military aide.

Ike never knew the difference. The former president teamed up with Sir James against U.S. Adm.

H. P. Smith and Freeman Gosden, of the old Amos and Andy American radio team.

"I'm afraid we've all got bad scores," said Gosden, "but the general really played some marvelous shots."

On this course, the west 18 of the Wentworth Golf Club, a bad score is understandable. It is 6,936 yards long, with numerous traps and plenty of woods. Golfing champion Arnold Palmer once described it as one of the toughest anywhere.

It was the former president's first golf game since he arrived Friday on his European tour.

As in America, Ike used an electric golf cart—but not all the time. Between most of the holes, he walked. His pace was brisk and he certainly didn't look his 71 years.

When photographers closed in, he didn't appear worried and got off a 210-yard drive, slightly hooked. The ball ended up in the fairway, but near the rough.

With the cameramen begging for more pictures, an Ike smilingly accommodating by waving and doffing his cap at their orders, he must have gotten confused.

He walked up to a ball in the middle of the fairway and, for his second shot, sliced and got into the bushes on the other side of the fairway. He played out well

Villian a Hero

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) — On Aug. 13, "villainous" Clifton Clowers becomes a hero in Woolverton Mountain Day. Clowers is the villain in a western song called Woolverton Mountain where he is said to be handy with both a knife and gun to ward off suitors for his "purty daughter." The song was written by Clowers' nephew, Merle Kilgore, of Nashville, Tenn., who formerly lived on the Conway County mountain.

Bootlegging Charge

RISON, Ark. (AP)—Paul Clements, a farmer of nearby Kingsland, was arrested Thursday and charged with operating an illegal still in his barn. Sheriff Homer Morrison and agents of the federal Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Unit reported seizing a 200-gallon copper still and other related paraphernalia. Clements was to be arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Charles S. Goldberger in Pine Bluff.

and then got on to the green. In the meanwhile, his partner was searching for his ball—which had been straight down the fairway.

Finally a caddy called and whispered: "I'm afraid the general's played your ball Sir." Sir James smiled and shrugged. No scores were announced.

State Race Muddled by Committee

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The question of whether runoff elections would be held in the secretary of state's race remained today a confused issue on the eve of the election.

The state Democratic Central Committee reaffirmed position today that it is up to the individual county committees whether a runoff is to be held Tuesday.

At least five of the state's 75 counties have said they do not plan runoffs. What others would do remained unknown.

And the Attorney General's office was staying strictly out of the picture. Assistant Atty. Gen. Jack Holt Jr. said today and Atty. Gen. Frank Holt said earlier that that office would issue no rulings on election matters of party concern.

Jack Holt said today that his office has had numerous queries from both county committees and from election officials. The state committee met with the staff of the attorney general's office earlier, Holt said, and were told that no ruling would be forthcoming.

It has been estimated that 41 of the state's 75 counties do not have local races and would therefore be concerned only in choosing a secretary of state Tuesday.

Kelly Bryant of Hope, who led Milton J. Willis of Van Buren in the first primary by some 40,000 votes, said Saturday a personal check made by him showed there were 41 counties with no local races. There would be 39 counties with either local or district races, he said.

Mississippi County officials said today there would be no runoff in that county.

Graham Sudberry, chairman of the county committee, said there are no local races, expenses are too much for a second primary and it is hard to get judges and clerks to man polling places.

Harold Coggin of England, secretary of the Lonoche Committee, said no election would be held in that county.

Union county officials said Bryant and Willis would be on the ballot, but an urban renewal issue in El Dorado is expected to draw the most interest.

Miller county officials say they are expecting a heavy vote turnout of some 7,800 voters. There are five county races to be decided.

21,000 on Pension

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The regional office of the Veterans Administration said Saturday there are now 21,316 Arkansas veterans drawing compensation for service-connected disabilities. The VA said those drawing pensions for non-service disabilities total 19,131 in the state. There are 17,057 dependents of deceased veterans drawing compensation or pension payments, the VA said.

Arkansas River Contracts

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A combination bid by two out of state firms was successful Thursday for an Army Engineers construction project on the Arkansas River. Patton Tully Transportation Co., Memphis, and Pensacola Construction Co., Kansas City, submitted an apparent low bid of $2,774,724 for eight miles of bank stabilization in Arkansas, Desha and Lincoln counties.

cided Tuesday.

A light vote is expected in Garland County, where only one race, for representative, is contested. Officials said they expected a vote of 4,000 to 5,000.

Lincoln, Crittenden and Faulkner counties have also indicated they will not conduct a runoff.

Dr. L. R. McDaniel, chairman of the Poinsett County committee, said election officials would man the counties 11 precincts.

"We're very unwilling to it," McDaniel said, "and are holding the election only because we feel we have to." He termed the election expensive and unnecessary.

McDaniel estimated only about 500 votes would be cast Tuesday, compared to 1,000 ballots recorded in the first primary.

TV Viewers in for Some Quaint Shows

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — We're in for some rather unusual television entertainment this coming night shows notable for omissions rather than excesses.

One new series, "Going My Way," is built around two Roman Catholic priests. The program will scrupulously avoid religious themes.

"The Virginian" has the usual cast of characters — the ranch owner, the daughter, the foreman and his cowboy buddies. But the basic conflict will be the old West against the negation of the good guys against the bad ones.

"Combat" and "The Gallant Men," both about fighting men in World War II, will de-emphasize shot, shell and enemy action and, instead, explore personal relationships under foxhole conditions.

"Mr. Smith goes to Washington" concerns the adventures of a United States senator. But it will avoid all political themes. The hero's party affiliation, will never be revealed nor will his state of origin.

If you think these typical examples indicate a very bland diet of escape entertainment, be assured that this is exactly what network television has been hoping for.

This is the logical reaction to the lambasting the multimillion-dollar industry took from many quarters last season.

It was called a "vast wasteland" by a top administration official, followed by talk of stricter regulation of the public air. There were Senate subcommittee hearings that produced headlines about concentration on television of unnecessary quantities of violence. There were complaints about controversial themes and stereotyping minorities, some accompanied by lawsuits, threats of boycott and upon occasion, withdrawal of sponsors.

Although it was a profitable season, it was also a worrisome one. Now television, like a spank, child, is trying awfully hard to avoid more punishment.

The non-conventional, non-violent approach of the entertainment shows, together with an extra number of public affairs, current events and cultural programs may indeed take off some of the heat. Whether they will prove interesting to the millions who turn on television more for relaxation and amusement than for raising their sights—is another matter.

Jap Youth Crosses the Ocean Alone

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Japanese youth who crossed the Pacific alone in a 19-foot sailboat on a diet of Japanese rice, beer, sake and fresh fish wants to stay in the United States two years to learn English.

The plans of Kenichi Horie, 26 of Osaka, are somewhat clouded by the fact he arrived without passport, visa, immunization record, proof of financial stability or a sponsor.

While the U.S. Immigration Service, the Public Health Service and the Japanese consulate work on the problem, Horie is staying at the home of a consulate employee in amiable protective custody.

Horie sailed into San Francisco Bay Sunday after a three-month voyage from Osaka. The surprised U.S. Coast Guard escorted him to St. Francis yacht harbor and called for the Immigration Service.

With the aid of his Japanese-English dictionary Horie got across to officials his plan to stay two years and learn English. Then he passed around cups of sake, a rice win, to curious onlookers.

The Coast Guard studied the little sailboat with small cabin forward and found only a tiny radio-direction finder, sextant and a compass. No auxiliary engine or radio communications gear encumbered Horie.

"Obviously one hell of a navigator," mused one Coast Guard man.

Horie's family in Osaka was overjoyed at the news of his arrival.

The Japanese government, which had given him up for dead, said it was astounded.

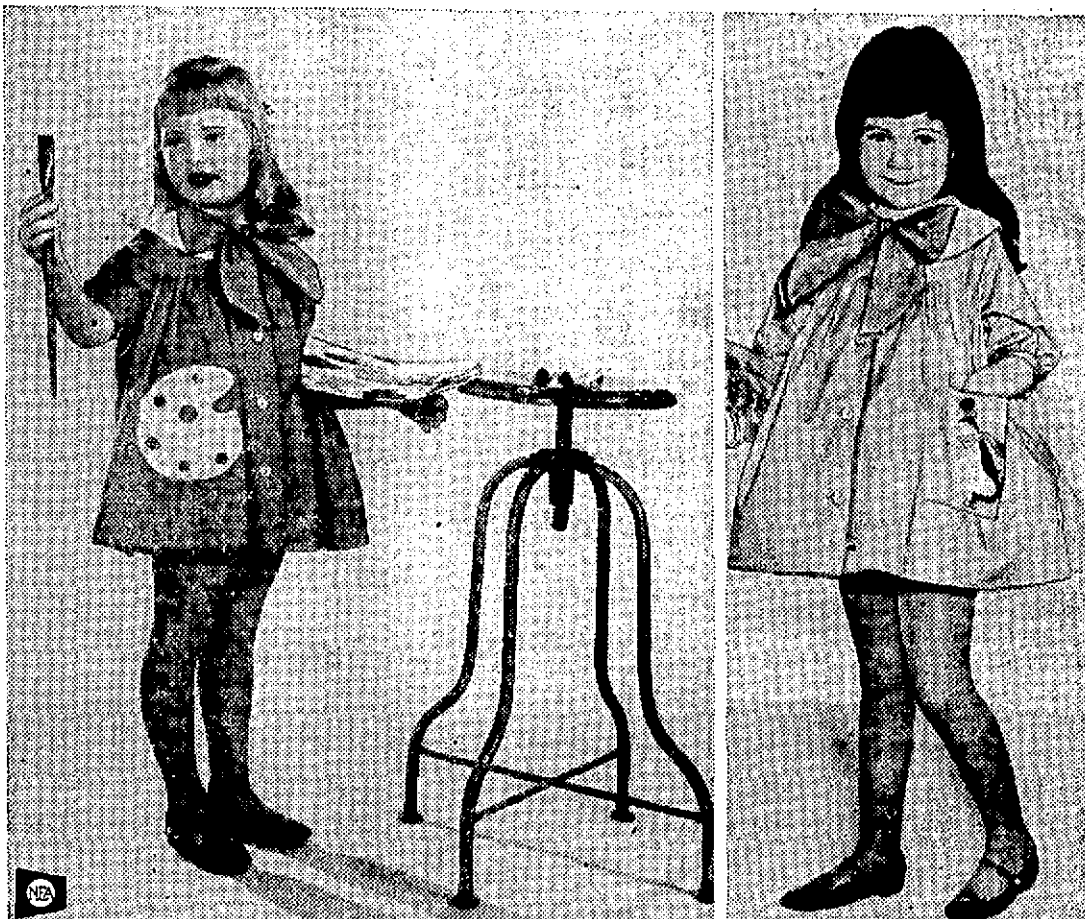

Japan had denied Horie a passport on the ground the planned trip was suicidal. His family was against it, too, but explained that Horie was a determined, adventurous youth.

Play smocks for the small fry are pretty and practical. Red smock (left) has palette trim and pussycat bow. Blue smock (right) is very full and widely collared in white, has penguin trim. Both are Cinderella fashions.

DOROTHY DIX

Dissillusioned Husband Wary of Wife's Overtures

By HELEN WORDEN ESKINE

Dear Helen: There's no fol like an old fool. Last year I married a shimmering, seductive, platinum-blond divorcee, in the mistaken belief that she would lovingly minister to my wants.

She pictured marriage a paradise on earth; a home that revolved around me; clothes laid out every morning; meals to my liking; evenings easily relaxing on the front porch in the summer or before an open fire in the winter, then to bed and asleep in each other's arms.

The intervening 12 months have been hell. I'd drag myself home from work—I'm a construction engineer, dog-tired, only to be met by her all steamed up and ready for a night on the town. The strain was too great physically and money-wise. Boy, could that cookie squander the dollars and all in an effort to keep up with the Joneses. That's not my idea of living and I said so. Fireworks followed. She left a note on the pin cushion, saying, "Marrying you was the mistake of my life. Goodbye."

Next morning a letter from her lawyer was among the bills (it being the first of the month) she had run up at the stores. That evening I returned to an empty house. All the furnishings were gone. "Cheap at any price," was my first thought.

Now, my "wife" has changed her mind. Twice a week she trips in—all sweetness and light, to spend the evening holding hands. Should I forgive and forget? Being a Christian I want to do what's right.—S.K.

Dear S.K.: I can only advise you on the evidence presented. Your wife's story would, of course, be quite different. But from your version, you're playing the doormat role. Be a man. Stick to your decision. Go through with the divorce.

about the future. Now, like a bolt from the blue comes a proposal of marriage from my first love. I wrote him that love couldn't be turned off and on as easily as electricity. He says he'll wait forever but meanwhile please write him once a week. In a soft moment I promised. Now, I'm not sure I really care. I'd wait till the end of time for my new flame but, will he want me when that time comes? Under these circumstances should I correspond with the first boy or tell him a flat god-bye?—Mixed Up.

Dear Helen: Tell the first boy goodbye. Being the off-again-on-again type, he'll find it even easier to ditch you a second time. The new boy probably doesn't want to talk marriage until he is prepared to go through with it. Give him time.

Dear Helen: The better people know me the less they like me. Once we became acquainted I am left out of their plans, my opinions are disregarded and—horror of horrors they yawn in my face. This troubles me. I am just 16 and will soon be dating—I hope. Do other suffer from the inability to make friends and keep them?—Friendless.

Dear Friendless: Social inferiority is a common complaint. The cure is loss of self through interest in others. Pay your friends the compliment of discussing what concerns them—not you. Make it your business to learn their interests. Be enthusiastic. Care about them. To overcome shyness and get your ideas across, take a course in public speaking!

Tremendous Tremor

Greatest recorded earthquake in the U. S. struck the village of New Madrid, Mo., on Dec. 16, 1811. Although it was felt over an area of two million square miles, the tremor caused only one death.

Wages Don't Up Union Activities

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The University of Arkansas has completed a study showing that the presence of high-wage industries in areas with abundant labor supplies doesn't necessarily increase union activities.

"There apparently exists a feeling among some industrial prospects that a concentration of industries in part of the state forces higher wage rates upon them," Barton A. Westerlund, associate director of the Industrial Research and Extension Center at the university, said.

Westerlund said the study was made in order to calm apprehensions among prospective industries on the union issue.

"The study," he said, "shows that this (apprehension) is an erroneous conclusion."

The study was made under Dr. Ethel B. Jones, a member of the university's research staff. It contains data from three areas of the state having high-wage plants that employ a large percentage of the manufacturing work force.

Clark, Garland, Hot Spring, Jefferson, Columbia, Ouachita and Union counties were involved in the study.

Dr. Jones noted three factors that prevent high wage industries from having much effect on other industries:

1. High-wage industries comprise only a small proportion of total employment.

2. These industries have not been expanding and the wages paid by other manufacturers cannot be governed by the higher rates of the high-wage industries.

3. The surplus of labor in the area under study has prevented the presence of high-wage industries from raising pay scales in other industries.

Growth in Some Areas Hurts Others

By BILL NEWSOM

Russellville Courier-Democrat (Written for the Associated Press) Growing pains of some Arkansas cities are giving a stomach ache to others.

The mutual ailment of both is difficulty in improving—or merely maintaining—the level of services to its residents with revenues from the 5-mill general tax to which they are limited by state law.

Some of them have turned to special censuses, with or without annexation first, to show population gains and thereby benefit from increased turnback of state revenues.

They always stand the risk of losing turnback funds if a special census should reveal a population decline, but few of them take the gamble unless they're certain the population has increased since the last decennial federal census.

State turnback funds for the last quarter were based on a population of 96,196 in 385 participating cities.

There was $1,390,500.66 in state revenues for street fund turnback to the cities, providing a per capita return of $1.44. The figure was $1.64 for the first quarter of 1962.

That's 20 cents less for each person living in cities receiving the turnback.

In Russellville (population 8,921 according to the 1960 federal census), the second quarter turnback for the street fund amounted to $12,838.65. The corresponding figure for the first quarter was $13,211.64, nearly $2,500 greater.

What happened? Special censuses requested by several cities before the second quarter turnback was computed showed an increase of 7,240 residents in participating municipalities. By cities, the increases were Fort Smith 6,785, Star City 187, Weldon 150 and Center Hill 128.

That reduced the amount of per capita return. Even so, a larger slice of the turnback went to the cities gaining population in the special census.

But other towns, like Russellville, with static populations—as far as censuses are concerned—suffered a loss of turnback.

General revenue turnback was affected too, with the per capita return being reduced from 71 to 69 cents. That meant a drop for Russellville from $6,308.91 for the first quarter to $6,179.96 for the second quarter.

Russellville's 1962 budget is $172,691.53, based on revenues anticipated at the first of the year. Mayor C. A. Hughes and aldermen recently wrestled over financial problems created by what was expected to amount to a more than $4,000 loss in turnback funds by the end of the year.

Some cities have annexed adjacent areas to insure an increase in residents—and turnback.

Springdale, for example, is the latest Arkansas town to conduct a special census. It showed an increase in population from 10,976 to 11,835.

Mayor Charles Davis said the increase would mean about $6,000 in extra state turnback funds due chiefly to annexation of several areas.

Other towns are seriously considering the same procedure.

The possibility of a special census for De Queen was raised at that town's city council meeting recently, and aldermen indicated they would favor such a step. Mayor John Owen said the Bureau of the Census indicated the special head count would cost about $720. Owen said that would be more than repaid if the new count should turn up as many as 50 more people than the official

Russians Are Commended by President

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has congratulated the Soviet Union on its latest space accomplishment, but American space officials adopted a wait-and-see attitude and withheld official comment.

While relaxing over the weekend at Boothbay Harbor, Maine, Kennedy said in a statement "I congratulate the Soviet Union on this exceptional technical feat and salute the courage of her two new astronauts. The American people, I know, wish them a safe return."

In Washington, a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said: "Until we know more about the Soviet mission we can't comment intelligently about it."

American televisioners saw films of the two Soviet cosmonauts orbiting the earth in twin space-ships. The films were flown to New York after they were recorded in London from Eurovision broadcasts picked up from Moscow. ABC, CBS and NBC then transmitted them Sunday across their television networks.

American radio listeners also heard recordings of the voices of cosmonauts Andrian Nikolayev and Pavel Popovich reporting back from their orbital flight.

Although U.S. space officials would not be quoted by name, it was clear that America once again was behind in the space race for the moon. Astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter, who circled the earth three times last May, put it this way: "We're behind and trying our best to catch up."

Earlier, the Soviet news agency Tass reported that a message from Carpenter, received in Moscow via The Associated Press, had been relayed to spaceman Nikolayev while he was in orbit.

Expression of best wishes came, too, from a NASA official at Cape Canaveral, Fla., who asked not to be identified. "I wish the two Russian pilots the best of luck and congratulate the men who put them up," he said. "This is a tremendous accomplishment."

The official added: "It probably will take a miracle for us to beat them to the moon."

The next U.S. space step is scheduled for late next month, when astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. is launched on a planned six-orbit flight of about nine hours.

Two of every 10 U. S. youths do not reach the senior year in high school and one other fails to graduate on becoming a senior.

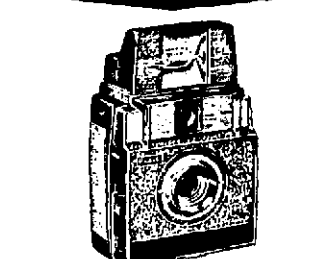

2,900 in the 1960 census. The De Queen Chamber of Commerce discussed the feasibility of annexing nearby areas. C. L. Leighton, participating in a panel discussion, said he would favor expansion before the proposed special census is taken.

He estimated that between 90 and 100 houses would be included in the area suggested, and that it would add between 300 and 400 persons to the population.

Several members of the chamber expressed interest in annexation and urged that immediate action be taken.

Of course, too much annexation could prove to be more of a burden than an asset — if the expanding town has to extend already inadequate sewer or water facilities to serve the annexed area.

OUR ANCESTORS

by Quincy

"I'm getting the nickel beer, but feel free to order an expensive 15 or 20-cent drink if you like!"

There was always the case of someone seeing a pretty girl and remembering her face. Also if there are two people to identify, there would be twice as much chance that one of them might be remembered. Therefore a girl was out of the question. Al would play it safe, enjoy himself alone.

The only remaining problem was one of simple forgery. Al believed he could copy the signature well enough to get by.

From 8 to 9 p. m. he practiced forging Sam Brown's signature—the one factor which worried him, but within a half hour he could write it with ease.

Al walked into the South Pacific restaurant as if he owned the place, checked his coat with an Oriental beauty, slipped the head-waiter a buck for a ringside table. He ate a meal of unknown, but pleasant tasting foods, sipped cocktails from a real coconut as he watched the hula dancers. At 11:24 he signaled for the check, which amounted to $37.69. Pulling out his credit card, Al grandly told the waiter, "add a five buck tip to the tab," as he signed Sam Brown across the bottom of the check.

Bowing, the waiter told Al, "Thank you, sir. This has to be okayed by the manager."

The waiter returned minutes later. "Excuse me, sir, but the manager is on telephone. He'll be finished shortly."

"Sure," Al said. By the time he'd finished another cigarette, the waiter came back to hand him the credit card and another bow. Al strolled to the hat-check stand and when the girl gave him his coat, he pressed a dollar into her little hand, exchanged a man-of-the-world-wink for her giggle.

As he left two big men with detective written over their heavy faces, grabbed him. The biggest dick said: "Don't give us a hard time, Buster."

"Look ... Okay, I admit I found the cards, but only a few hours ago—this is the first time I've tried to use them!" Al pleaded.

"Yeah? Save that yarn for the judge," the dick said. "If your story is true, you're in a bad way, Buster. You found stolen credit cards. But I think you've run up $3,500 in the past two weeks."

SHORTY

A 2-Minute Story

ONCE IS TOO OFTEN
By STEVE APRIL

The old saying goes: "We all have larceny in our souls." For Al, a clerk in a tobacco store, larceny meant taking a pack of gum or cigarettes, "borrowing" a dime from the cash register now and then—petty stuff. But Al was 21, a flashy dresser, and in his own mind a "sharpshooter" who knew all the angles.

It is also said an honest man is one who has a choice. Al's came when he found a wallet near the curb. Pretending to tie his shoe, Al slipped the wallet up his sleeve with one smooth motion, examined it later. Only two dollar bills. But on seeing a string of credit cards made out to one Sam Brown from California, Al's sharp little brain shifted into high gear.

He'd read about people going on a spending spree with credit cards, living high at the best hotels, buying clothes, jewels—running up a debt of many thousands of dollars before they were caught. Al wasn't going to do that. He was certain he'd be caught and besides he didn't have that sort of nerve. Also, there was a foggy element of fairness—

He checked his coat with an oriental beauty.

Sam Brown, whoever he was, might have to foot the bill.

He told himself, "Brown, the slob, just lost the wallet. Even if he phones the credit outfits at once it'll take at least a day or two to notify all the places on their list. If I use the cards tonight, for one big time, small chance of my being caught. I won't be a pig. It'll cost Brown a couple hundred, but he'll be getting off cheap. Since I've never been to any of the swank spots, no chance of anybody remembering me—or seeing me there again. And Brown's signature—almost as simple as his name to copy."

For the balance of the afternoon, Al studied the night club ads, selecting three of the best, all of them honoring the cards. Al had. Al decided he wanted to enjoy this night of luxury alone. A girl might talk, ask questions.

Soblen Back to Court in Britain
By TOM OCHILTREE
LONDON (AP)—Dr. Robert A. Soblen's attorneys go to Britain's high court again Tuesday for another legal attempt to save the fugitive spy from the life sentence waiting for him in the United States.

The lawyers for the 61-year-old psychiatrist said they would ask the court for Soblen's release on a writ of habeas corpus and challenge the order Home Secretary Henry Brooke issued Saturday for Soblen's deportation to the United States.

Brooke issued the deportation order after repeated frustration of British government attempts to send Soblen to New York by El Al, the Israeli government-owned airline which landed Soblen in Britain July 1. The Israeli government, under severe political pressure at home, said it would take Soblen out of Britain but it would only take him to Israel, not to the United States.

Soblen late in June jumped $100,000 bail in New York and fled to Israel on a dead brother's passport. The Israeli government expelled him and put him on an El Al plane bound for New York with a U.S. marshal aboard.

As the plane crossed Europe, Soblen slashed a wrist and stabbed himself in the abdomen to get himself landed in Britain.

The British high court and the Court of Appeals already have denied Soblen a writ of habeas corpus and upheld the government's contention that the doctor had no legal right to remain in Britain.

Maris' Hitting Valuable in Yank Victories

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Roger Maris isn't going to hit 61 home runs this season. He may not even hit .269. He did both last season.

Right now Roger is hitting .254, which is a very good average for most pitchers. It isn't so hot for one of baseball's highest paid hitting stars.

The New York Yankees gave the green-eyed, blond slugger a $70,000 contract this season well knowing he wasn't going to hit 61 homers, but full of high hopes he might improve his batting average.

He's done neither, but still may be worth the money.

Over the weekend Maris either scored or drove in every Yankee run in three games.

New York edged Detroit 2-0 Sunday. Roger drove in the first one and scored the second. That, along with the five-hit pitching of Bill Stafford (11-7) was all it took.

The victory, plus Minnesota's 5-3 conquest of second place Los Angeles, gave the Yanks a 5 1/2 game edge as they started a two-week road trip. Chicago edged Kansas City 1-0, Boston beat Baltimore 4-1 and Cleveland defeated Washington 5-3 in the other American league action.

San Francisco kept the National League race alive as Juan Marichal stopped Los Angeles on four hits, 5-1, and pulled to within 2 1/2 games of the leading Dodgers. Philadelphia took two from St. Louis, 9-7 and 7-3. Pittsburgh edged Chicago 5-4. Houston beat Milwaukee 4-5 and Cincinnati whipped New York 8-4.

Maris, departing from his hit-or-miss theory of 1961, used most of the weapons in a hitter's arsenal in his weekend performance. In the first game of a double-header Saturday, won by Detroit 7-2, Roger drove in one run with a single, the other with a sacrifice squeeze bunt.

In the second game, won by the Yanks 3-2 in 10 innings, he scored the first one after drawing a full count base on balls. His 26th homer of the season accounted for the second, tying the game.

Then he won it in the 10th with a ground smash off the first baseman's glove, driving in Bobby Richardson, who had doubled.

Stafford was locked in a scoreless duel Sunday with Tom Kline when the Yanks broke through in the eighth. Tom Fresh drew a lead-off walk and was sacrificed to second. Maris singled to right, driving in Fresh. He moved to second when Mickey Mantle was walked intentionally, and scored on Elston Howard's single.

Bob Allison drove in two runs and scored two himself in leading the Twins to the triumph over the Los Angeles. It pulled Minnesota to within one game of the second-place Angels. The Twins, helped by two Angel errors, had built a 5-0 lead for lefty Dick Stigman (7-3) when Felix Torres' eighth-inning homer accounted for all the Los Angeles runs.

Earl Wilson (9-5) spaced four hits and struck out nine Orioles in leading Boston to its fifth straight. A three-run homer by Ed Bressoud was the big hit for the Red Sox.

Jim Landis' 15th homer accounted for the only run in Chicago's fourth straight victory and eighth in 10 starts. The six-hit pitching of Ray Herbert (12-7), who left after walking two men in the eighth, and Juan Pizarro shut out Kansas City.

Harry Bright staked Washington to a quick 3-0 lead in the first inning, but Cleveland's Jim (Mudcat) Grant shut out the Senators the rest of the way. A pair of two-run homers by Gene Green brought the Indians from behind.

Legion Play Pairs Texas and Arkansas

HELENA, Ark. (AP) — Walnut Ridge, state champion team of Arkansas, will be pitted against the championship Texas team from Austin, Wednesday when American Legion baseballers from five states meet for a tournament to name an entry in the national event.

Teams from Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Mississippi and Tennessee will compete for the regional title. There will be no entry from the Panama Canal Zone this year.

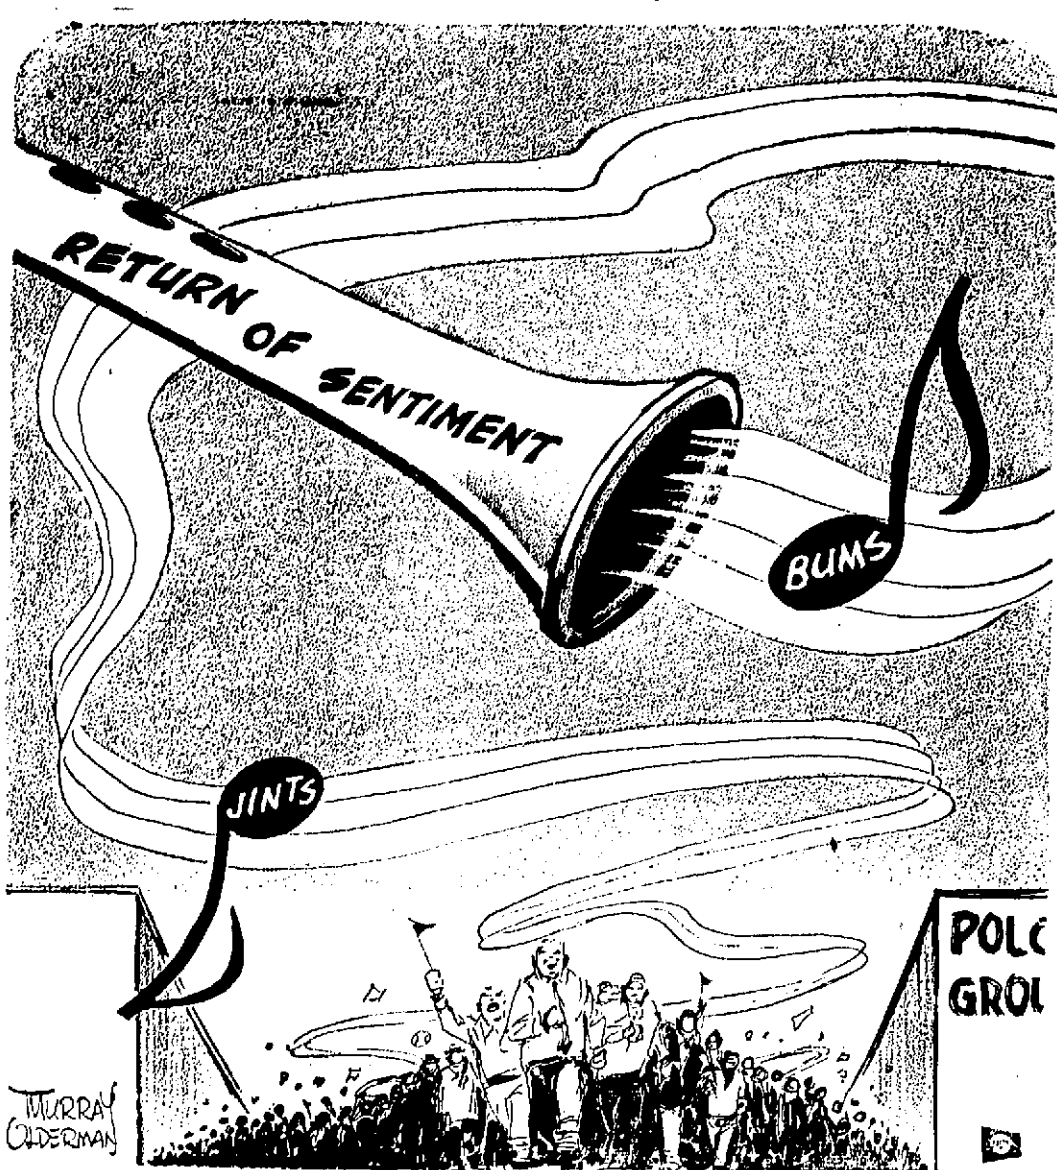

The double elimination tournament opens Wednesday afternoon with Mississippi playing Tennessee at 4 p.m. The Louisiana champion team plays the winner of that game Thursday.

Walnut Ridge is a favorite in the tourney because of its impressive record — 42-13. Jackson, Miss., the defending champion, has a 15-5 record.

New Orleans holds a 24-3 card and the Memphis Pepsi-Cola team, representing Tennessee, a 19-6 record.

Each team is assured of at least

Palmer Takes Top Money at American

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

AKRO, Ohio (AP) — Arnold Palmer, the great one, came to the American Golf Classic with two goals in mind and achieved them both.

First, Palmer wanted to master the treacherous 7,615-yard Firestone layout with its monstrous No. 1 hole, which measures 25 yards. Then he wanted to win enough money to surpass his own earnings record, established in 1960.

The Pennsylvania pouter, whose galleries resemble Ghengis Khan's hordes, put together four magnificent rounds of 67-69-70-70 for a 276 total, four strokes under Firestone's par 35-35-70, to win top money of $9,000.

He finished five strokes ahead of the field to boost his total earnings to $90,198, surpassing the mark of $75,262 he established two years ago. It was his eighth tournament triumph this year. Palmer, 32, now has a career total of 36 victories.

No. 16, which cost Palmer the PGA victory in 1960, was humbled this time. In each and every round, Palmer scored a birdie. "I played it differently this time," said Palmer. "But despite four birdies, I still have a lot of respect for that monster."

Palmer, who will forgo action until the "World Series of Golf" at Firestone next month, defeated Mason Rudolph by five strokes. Rudolph, putting together a 31-35-66 in the final round, finished with a 281 for second money of $4,600. Finishing in a tie for third place with 284s were U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus, Don January, Al Geiberger and Billy Maxwell—all earning $2,500.

Two games. Teams will not have to play two games in one day. Finals will be scheduled either Monday, Aug. 21, or Tuesday, Aug. 22, depending on whether both finalists are winner's bracket teams or one is a loser's bracket nine.

The winner of the regional tournament competes with seven other region champs in the national tournament in Bismarck, N.D., Aug. 30.

Eastern All Stars Down West Team

By BILL SIMMONS

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rampaging third units boosted the East Planters to a 79-76 basketball victory and a 14-6 football victory in the seventh annual Arkansas High School All-Star classics in Little Rock Saturday.

It was the first time the East team had topped both games, and it was the first basketball victory for the East since 1956, when the All-Star series began.

A crowd estimated at 4,500 came alive in air-conditioned Barton Coliseum Saturday afternoon when the West began to chop away at an 11-point lead held by the East. J. D. McConnell of Fayetteville paced the Tanger surge with 12 points in the final period, and pulled the West within two points of the Planters, 76-74.

But speedy little Kenny Johnson of Jonesboro drew a foul in the last two minutes, and dropped in a free throw to give the East a three-point lead.

Then DeWitt's stocky Steve Rousseau came up with the ball after a scramble, and with 23 seconds to go he dropped in a crisp shot to push it to five.

The East moved into its 11-point lead on the work of its third unit. The second unit had pushed a lead up to seven points, and the third held that margin and added two points to it before the second half of the game started.

The first teamers took the floor for the second half, with a comfortable margin, and used superior height to control the backboards.

McConnell, Justin Daniels of Fayetteville, Julian Johnston of Crossett, Bill Burson of Smackover and Ricky Sugg of Berryville paced the Rangers, but couldn't keep up with the East's rebounders—Jim Holstead of North Little Rock, Joe Murphy of Jonesboro and Mickey Johnson of Blytheville.

The most valuable player in the game won't be announced until next Sunday.

Saturday night in War Memorial Stadium, the East's first team banged away and went 60-yards in six plays for a touchdown.

The Planters were in trouble on their own 25 and Bobby Nix of Benton punted. But a roughing-the-kicker penalty gave the ball back to the Planters on their 40, first down.

Jon Brittenum of Brinkley started the series with a pass down the middle to Charles Williams of Helena, who carried to the West 31. Runs by Brittenum and Nix put it on the West 24. A quick opener sent Chester Johnson of Monticello ripping to the six, and when Nix was stopped for no gain over right tackle, Brittenum rolled left on a keeper and plunged into the end zone.

Nix kicked good to make it 7-0. The first half was split into three sections, first teams meeting in the first, second teams in the second and third teams in the third.

The East's other touchdown came on a 69-yard, nine-play

Liberia has been aided in creating five million acres of national forests by American march by its third team. Tim Wright of Benton got the push going with a 12-yard pass to Robert Moore of McGeehe, and then ended it with a 17-yard shot to Moore. Though well covered, Moore got a step on his man in the end zone and made a beautiful leaping catch.

The West finally got moving with 1:58 left in the last period. Camden's George McCarty intercepted a pass by the East's John Beard of Little Rock Hall High, and McCarty returned it 41 yards to the East 14.

Jerry Moody, a hard-hitting half-back from El Dorado, slashed over tackle for four yards. On second down, Moody took a pitch out from Frank Spainhour of Lakeside of Hot Springs and lofted a pass to McCarty, streing into the end zone.

Joe Black of Smackover, who played a tremendous game on defense attempted to kick the extra point, but it was blocked by Johnson.

The little Monticello sprinter returned a punt earlier in the game, and swept 90 yards behind good blocking to the end zone. But the touchdown was nullified by an off-side penalty.

In halftime ceremonies, Carol Ann Holland of Fayetteville was crowned Miss Hospitality of 1963. Saturday morning the Arkansas High School Coaches Association picked Dwight Jones of Nashville the coach of the year. He coached the West Rangers in football.

Dodgers Spend Lost Weekend With Giants

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

You might say the Dodgers spent a lost weekend with the beats in San Francisco.

Thanks to Felipe Alou and friends, the San Francisco Giants have saved the National League pennant race. A three-straight sweep over Los Angeles has slashed a fat 5 1/2 game lead to a mere 2 1/2 games.

Instead of an early knockout in mid-August, the Dodgers may have to fight it out right down to the wire. Al Dark, manager of the Giants, said he needed to win five of seven from the Dodgers to have a chance. He already has won three.

The three straight were accomplished with Felipe Alou getting eight hits and scoring seven runs in 12 at bats, posting his average 10 points to .328. In the Dodgers series he batted .667. Willie Mays, a pigeon for Dodger pitching in earlier games, awoke with four hits and five runs score in 10 trips.

Tommy Davis and Frank Howard, who ruined the Giants in Los Angeles in late July were kept under control. Tommy had three for 12 and Howard managed only two hits in 11 at bats in three games. However Davis took over the league batting lead at .345.

Juan Marichal turned back the Dodgers with four hits Sunday while the Giants won 5-1. Alou had three singles among the 10 hits off losing Stan Williams and Larry Sherry.

Cincinnati's surge, interrupted last weekend by the New York Mets, has been renewed. The Reds have won eight in a row, climbing within seven games of the Dodgers. They made Freddy Hutchinson's 43rd birthday a happy one Sunday with an 8-4 victory over the Mets. Gordie Coleman, Lee Cardenas and Wally Post hit home runs.

Pittsburgh outlasted Chicago 5-4 in the finale of their long series. The three games consumed nine hours and 53 minutes with respective times of 3:12, 3:09 and 3:32. Bob Skinner hit his 11th and 10th homer on successive at bats to win for relief man Jack Lamabe over Don Elston.

Johnny Callison drove in seven runs to lead the Philadelphia Phillies in a doubleheader sweep over St. Louis 7-3 and 9-7. Callison's two-run triple in the first game was an important blow. He won the second game with a three-run homer in the eighth.

Houston broke its seven-game losing streak by beating Milwaukee 8-1 in 105 degree temperature although the Braves scored two in the ninth and had the bases loaded when the final out was made. Bob Bruce was the winner over Lew Burdette.

In the American League, the New York Yankees beat Detroit 2-0 and widened their lead to 5 1/2 games over Los Angeles. Minnesota downed Los Angeles 5-1. Chicago continued its hot streak, blanking Kansas City 1-0. Boston whipped Baltimore 4-1 and Cleveland defeated Washington 1-0.

Joey Jay got off to a shaky start at Cincinnati when Charlie Neal of the Mets hit a three-run homer in the first. But the Reds bombed Roger Craig and successors for three homers. It was Jay's 18th victory and Craig's 18th defeat.

Cal McLish won the opener for the Phillies with the aid of Callison's hitting and Cly Dalrymple's homer. Don Demeter, who had three hits in each game, drove in three runs in the second game with his 18th homer and a double. Dallas Green won it in relief over Lindy McDaniel. Ernie Broglio lost the first. Stan Musial lost the batting lead to Davis when he went hitless.

Pittsburg trailed 4-3 in the seventh when Skinner hit his second homer, following Dick Groat's single.

Norm Larker homered for the Colts and Roy McMillan and Amado Samuel for the Braves in the contest that finally ended when Russ Kemmerer, fourth Colt pitcher, made Frank Bolling ground out.

U. S. Swimmers Stun Visitors in Competition

CUYAHOGA FALLS, Ohio (AP)

West German and Japanese swimmers, stunned by a crew of record-happy Americans in the AAU Nationals, may get more surprises at the three-way international meet this weekend in Chicago.

The foreign aquatic aces, who failed to capture a single event in the three-day National Men's Outdoor championships which ended Sunday, saw the U.S. swimmers better five listed world records and equal a sixth. In two other events, American records were set.

But U.S. swimmers and coaches agreed with Dr. Harold Henning, chairman of the AAU's swimming committee, that conditions were not the best at the 50-meter Waterworks pool.

Noting the Chicago meet pool offered a faster course, Dr. Henning predicted: "If the weather continues good, I think you'll see some new records."

The foreign guests could have it easier at Chicago, however, because of the absence of three Americans who were standouts here.

Ted Stickle has a bone chip and pulled tendons in his left elbow, and his arm goes into a cast today.

Despite the bad elbow, Stickle bettered the listed world record in the 400-meter individual medley and won the 200-meter individual medley.

Carl Robie, Philadelphia high school boy who bettered the 200-meter butterfly world record, said he was too worn out to compete, and the same news came from Indian's Chet Jastrenski, who captured the 100-meter and 200-meter breaststroke.

Tom Stock of Indiana, who lowered world standards for the 100-meter and 200-meter backstroke, said he will be at Chicago, but because of the inevitable let down after "The big one" he is not optimistic about his prospects.

Olympic veteran Murray Rose is an Australian, although he swam under the Los Angeles Athletic Club's colors here, and he will not be on the U.S. team at Chicago.

The 23-year-old Rose, who was in such a slump a few months ago he reportedly considered retiring from competition, won two events, setting American records in both.

Pitching — Juan Marichal, Giants, held league-leading Dodgers to four hits while completing three-game sweep with 5-1 victory.

The cab is a special International Harvester model only 50 inches wide, about 20 inches narrower than standard two-man types. Thanks to the narrow cab and its center position, the entire length of the truck can be utilized for hauling steel (note girder alongside), pipe and other long-length materials. And in balmy weather, it's the only truck-convertible on the road.
